Memories

MBBS days were the best days of our lives. Absolutely carefree and lots of studies and lots of fun too. One of the memories I wish to share is about Jawahar Tak and Virendra Singh. They used to stay in the room above mine and they had a unique way of informing me that the tea was ready. They used to hit their floor with a stick and I used to hear it on my roof. But many times as you can very well imagine, these two would give me the signal and I would come out of the room and they would throw water from a bucket on my head from above. Those were the days.
